

A close-up photograph of a Blue-gray Gnatcatcher perched on its nest. The nest is constructed from a dense layer of dried, light-colored leaves and twigs, attached to a larger, more complex structure of similar material. The bird has a dark gray head and back, a white eye-ring, and a dark beak. The background is a clear, bright blue sky.

Blue-gray
Gnatcatcher

Copyright © 2017 by John B. Ennis